CITY NOTES.

A meeting of the Central Bryan and Sewall club will be held tonight in Industrial hall. John Sitt, of Olyphant, was received at the Lackawanna hospital, Saturday morning, suffering from a broken leg, the result of being run over by a mine car. The members of John R. Fordham Prohibition league will meet in the annex of the Green Ridge United Methodist church at 8 o'clock this evening for the purpose of reorganizing. Only four moves have been made in the checker match by mail for the state championship between J. J. Warden, of this city, and James Adams, of Sayre, the present champion. Twelve games will be played. Florence, the youngest daughter of Councilman and Mrs. J. J. Warden, died yesterday afternoon at 1:30. The funeral will take place from the residence, 22 Wyoming avenue, this afternoon at 3 p. m. Jesse B. Morgan, a carpenter, 22 years old, after a week's illness, died at 4 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of Mrs. Von Storch, of 302 Market street, Green Ridge, with whom he boarded. His parents live in Pottsville. The Lackawanna hospital physician reports that Frank Scholz, who was shot by some unknown hand on North Washington avenue, Tuesday night, is progressing nicely and will probably recover. No clue to the perpetrators of the deed has been gained. At the meeting of the Republican county committee, Saturday afternoon, it was decided to hold a general meeting of the executive committee and auxiliary committee next Saturday afternoon for the purpose of formally opening the campaign. As it is impossible for Mr. and Mrs. Thiele to have their school of music, 229 Spruce street, ready for reception till the end of this week, they beg those who wish to see or address them to do so at their former studio at Guernsey's music store, 265 Washington avenue.

NO TROUBLE YESTERDAY.

All was quiet and orderly at the Polish Catholic Church. From 10 o'clock yesterday morning until last mass was over at St. Mary's Polish church on Prospect avenue, the streets were black with people out to witness any trouble which might occur in the event of any attempt to stop Rev. Father Aust from saying mass, as was the case the Sunday preceding. The police were not called out. There was no trouble. The Polish people went on their way to mass and came home quietly and orderly. Rev. Father Aust did not read mass in the church. Rev. George J. Stopper, assistant to Rev. P. C. Christ, of St. Mary's German church, was sent by Bishop O'Hara as a substitute both masses for the congregation. Father Aust said mass in the convent chapel for the sisters. The trouble will be definitely settled in a short while. Rev. J. J. Feeley, of the cathedral, officiated at vespers at the Polish church at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT.

To Complete Arrangements for the Reunion of 132d Survivors. A final meeting of the committee who are making arrangements for the reunion of the 132d Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, will be held at Alderman Wright's office in the Price Building, 38 Washington avenue, Tuesday evening, September 15, at 8 o'clock. All members of the One Hundred and Thirty-second are invited to come to this meeting as final arrangements will be made and committees appointed for duty on September 17.

MINOR POLICE MATTERS.

Doings of Law-Breakers During the Past Forty-eight Hours. One week ago Saturday Mrs. Maggie Dinahy, of Taylor, was released from the county jail after serving three months for breaking the windows of a Taylor saloon. Thursday she was arrested on complaint of her husband for assaulting him and breaking the windows and furniture in their home. She secured her release by paying a fine. Tuesday night she was arrested on Seventh street by Patrolman Farley for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. When locked up in the central station house she became so disorderly that she had to be handcuffed to the cell. Before she was subdued she broke a number of the iron fixtures in the cell. In default of a $10 fine she was sent to the county jail. John Sheehan, of South Washington avenue, arrested for abusing his family, was cut up for ten days.

THEY FAVOR SOUND MONEY.

McKinley Club Organized, 300 Strong, at the Car Shops. Three hundred workmen in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western car shops met at noon Saturday and organized a McKinley sound money club. Joseph Madany was chosen president, and Frank Glover, secretary. At least 200 members were expected to join before the end of the week, and a committee is at work constantly bringing in members. The club has arrangements made for active work in this campaign. Committees on rules, speakers, etc., are appointed. The next meeting will be held at the shops at noon next Saturday.

THE CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Hold a State Convention in This City Beginning Tomorrow Morning—Officers of State Organization. There will arrive in this city tonight nearly one hundred delegates to attend a meeting of the Pennsylvania State Council, Catholic Knights of America. The object and nature of the organization is much the same as that of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association and its membership is restricted to male members of the Roman Catholic church. In this city the members of the order are almost exclusively of German extraction, but in other sections no nationality especially predominates. It is expected that the out-of-town delegation will number about ninety persons, sixty-five from Philadelphia and twenty-five from other parts of the state. The main body will reach here in special cars attached to the 6:22 Delaware and Hudson train tonight. Their headquarters have been engaged at the St. Charles hotel. The official itinerary provides for a "grand rally" beginning at 8 o'clock tonight in Music Hall. There will be a solemn mass at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in St. Peter's cathedral. The one formal and important session of the state council will open in College Hall tomorrow morning at 10:25 o'clock. To the local Knights have been left the arrangements for the afternoon and the Scranton members have arranged a slight meeting trip, which will include an inspection of city and county buildings, the Albright library, high school and office buildings and a visit to the mines. At 7:45 o'clock Wednesday morning the delegates will leave for home via the Delaware and Hudson road. The state officers of the Knights are: Spiritual director, Rev. B. A. Conway, Philadelphia; president, James P. Sherry, Philadelphia; first vice-president, M. P. McLaughlin, Pottsville; second vice-president, William Dwyer, Philadelphia; James J. Bonner, Philadelphia; secretary, Charles J. Healey, Philadelphia.

SOCIAL WORLD.

Miss Elippe, of Webster avenue, will entertain friends tomorrow afternoon with a thimble tea in honor of Miss Hamblin, of Specane. Miss Laura E. Hand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hand, of the West Side, will be married Wednesday evening at 8:30 at the home of her parents. On Thursday morning Miss Lulu James of South Lincoln avenue and Walter Williams, of Luzerne street, will be married at the home of Miss James' mother. Miss Daisy Boyce, of Tenth street, and William Cole were married in Binghamton last week. The announcement of their marriage was a surprise to their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Cole will reside on Tenth street. A luncheon was given by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hallstead at their residence on Wyoming avenue Saturday afternoon in honor of the seventh birthday of their daughter, Miss Mary G. Hallstead. It was attended by twenty-six persons. A surprise party was given by Mrs. Charles Robinson, of Green Ridge, Saturday for her daughter, Anna. Mrs. Robinson was assisted in entertaining by her niece, Miss Ethel, of New York. Those who attended the party were the Misses Louise Conolly, Helen Parry, Helen Chamberlin, Charlotte Schroeder, Jess Hoole, Margaret Smith, Ella Conolly, Laura Harvey, Katie Baltz, Isabel Fallentine, Lisa Spless, Bessie Spless, Lena, Elma, Karl, William and Frederick Edwinton.

JUVENILE REPUBLICANS.

Boys on the Hill Espouse the McKinley Ticket. The Republican cause has been espoused in an emphatic manner by over two score of boys living in the vicinity of Quincey avenue and Olive street. On Saturday evening the young Americans, whose ages range from 4 to 12 years, proclaimed themselves. They organized the Robert Warren Young Republican club, had a lantern parade and wound up with an open-air meeting at the corner of Quincey avenue and Olive street where addresses were made by Ministers Robert Warren and Earl McKivay and Attorneys M. W. Lowry and F. W. Fleitz. The club is named in honor of its young president. It will be asked to take part in the parades incident to the Republican campaign in Scranton.

AMONG THE TEACHERS.

Changes in Addition to Those Announced Last Saturday. At tonight's meeting of the board of control the teachers' committee will announce the resignation of Miss Ella A. Ruddy, of No. 5, and the substitution of Miss Louise M. Barnes, of No. 25. Miss Lizzie Lewis will substitute at No. 32 for Miss Lizzie Warren, who, on account of illness, will not be able to take up her duties for a few days yet.

DRESS REHEARSAL OF COMIC OPERA

Will Have Its First Public Production at the Frothingham Tonight.

LILLIAN RUSSELL IS THE STAR

"An American Beauty" Is the Title of the Opera and It Gives the Well-Known Diva an Excellent Opportunity to Display Her Operatic Talent—Supported by a Good Company

A very satisfactory dress rehearsal of "An American Beauty" took place at the Frothingham last night. It is a three act comic opera which will serve to introduce the fair Lillian Russell to the theatregoers of this season. The opinion of those who saw "An American Beauty" last night, handicapped with the dull setting of a first dress rehearsal, was of the opinion that it will meet with much success and that in the new opera Miss Russell has a role that displays to excellent advantage her distinctive operatic talent. The book of the opera was written by "Harsh Norton," pen name of M. S. McLellan, the brilliant young man who until recently was editor of Town Topics of New York. The music of the opera is by Gustave Kerber, who has done his portion of the work in a very satisfactory manner. Both Mr. McLellan and Mr. Kerber were present last night, as were Edward W. Lederer, of the New York World; William King, of the New York Herald; William George E. Hinton, of the New York Evening World; Alan Dale, of the New York Journal; Ambrose Constine and E. A. Niven, of Wilkes-Barre; Charles F. Gale, of New York, and Job Hodges, private secretary to Mayor Strong, of New York. The company numbers over sixty persons and it arrived in this city Saturday evening over the Lehigh Valley and Delaware and Hudson railroad in a special train. Miss Russell travels in a special parlor car which bears her name.

SPENT THE DAY REHEARSING.

Early yesterday morning the company began the final rehearsals under the direction of that past master of stage craft, George Lederer, and kept at it busily steadily all day. At 8:20 last night the curtain was swung up on the dress rehearsal when the result of the careful rehearsing was apparent in the comparative smoothness with which the opera moved along. Tonight the opera will have its first public production at the Frothingham. The scenic sources of curiosity for the uninitiated, and Monte Carlo in the full swing of its gilded gaming and intricate, is rich in possibilities that no playmaker has yet reflected. This is the environment chosen for the new opera. Prince Schweppe, an attendant prodigal and debilitated foreigner, sojourning in Newport, aims to replenish his exhausted by marriage to a title hunting heiress, succeeds in trapping into engagement Mrs. Gabrielle Dalmont, a young widow. The curtain arises on the luxuriously appointed estate of Mrs. Dalmont in Newport almost at the hour fixed for her nuptials. The entrance is watching the moment anxiously. The hour arrives and passes. The young widow does not appear; then it amusingly develops that her nonappearance marks the twelfth time she has postponed the wedding.

DO NOT INTEREST HER.

None of the enticements of Newport's exclusives are able to even remotely interest the affections of the young widow. In Newport, dazzled by her grace and beauty and anxious to win without the expense of a campaign, she is the Earl of Beverly, missed at a gambler. In the train of Mrs. Dalmont, a role which the fair Lillian plays, is Marianne, a confidante. Marianne discovers the Earl's secret and at once determines to outwit the cunning and cupidity of Prince Schweppe. This determination she executes before the first act is well under way, and thence the action passes to a curious hall at Newport, introducing the widow in an impulsive and picturesque revelry atop of the palanquin back of an elephant, and finally to its third period showing Monte Carlo. The play of incident is varied, involving its comic elements a circus manager's clown and manager's wife, an attendant of the prince's in one Bobo, and the prince himself. Plebeian features are found in the fashionable fittings of Mrs. Dalmont's set a novelty in the circus hall, and the cosmopolitan fashions found about Monaco's famous gaming grounds.

MR. MERRIFIELD'S DECISION.

Will Today Say Whether or Not He Will Accept Nomination. Edward Merrifield will today make known his intentions regarding the Democratic nomination for congress. The notification committee, consisting of Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons and Senator M. E. McDonald is selected to call on him this morning to officially inform him of his nomination and to bear with them back to the county committee his acceptance or declination. When asked by a Tribune reporter last night, if he was in a position to indi-

Serious Accident on the Pittston Line of the Scranton Traction Company Last Night.

A heavily loaded Pittston car No. 253, jumped the track on the curve at the foot of the grade in Stark's Patch between Avoca and Moosic, at 8:15 o'clock last night, injuring a number of the passengers.

There was a green motorman named Smith running the car and not knowing that he was approaching the curve failed to slacken the speed of the car. When it struck the curve it left the rails and after knocking down a shade and a picket fence brought up against a cherry tree on the property of John Garry, whose house faces the hill, down which the car came.

One of the passengers, Miss Mary Moran, of the West Side, was so badly injured that she had to be taken home in a cot and Mrs. John Murray and child, of Exton street, were badly shaken up and George Allen, of Abouse, had his hand painfully cut.

The car was but slightly injured. Traffic was not delayed to any extent as the car was so far away from the track that no attempt was made to raise it until after the other cars had stopped running.

BOTH USED KNIVES.

A Duel in the Dark Between Two South Side Drunks.

A young man ran into the South Side police station at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, declaring that there was a fight in the rear of the 600 block of Beek street and that he had heard a man cry "Don't use the knife." When Lieutenant Zaog and Patrolmen Bond and Hagerly rushed upon the scene they found a man standing alone in the dark alley trying to staunch the blood flowing from a number of cuts about the exposed parts of his body. A knife covered with blood was found in his pocket when he was searched at the station house.

An investigation showed that he was an Italian named Joseph Macki and that he resided at a boarding house in the vicinity of where he was picked up. From what the police could learn Macki had been in a disturbance in a saloon house and was put out. The boarding house with whom he had the difficulty was closed and he came home. The two then quietly adjourned to a nearby alley and proceeded to settle their differences once and for all with knives as the means of settlement. Jacob Richardson, editor of the Democratic News; Klaw and Erlanger, of New York; Al. Hayman and T. Henry French, New York, and John Senger, private secretary to the secretary of the war.

JACOB SAMTER BURIED.

Services Conducted at the Residence by Rev. J. Feuerlicht. There was no ostentation or display connected with the funeral of Jacob Samter yesterday afternoon. His life was plain and simple, and the last tribute of respect to his remains corresponded to the course that characterized his long and useful business career. For a long time before the funeral services began, friends came in and took a last view of the deceased, and the casket was covered over with wreaths of flowers as testimonials of friendship and esteem.

FUNERAL OF MISS EMMA E. VAIL.

Was Held at Blairstown, N. J., on Saturday Afternoon. The funeral services for the late Miss Emma E. Vail, who died in Orange, N. J., last evening morning, was held at the home of her brother, Dr. Vail, in Blairstown, N. J., Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Many friends were present from Blairstown, Scranton, Newark, N. J., and New York. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Butler, of Blairstown, assisted by Dr. Stitt, of New York, and Rev. Dr. Charles E. Robinson, of this city. Each paid a high tribute to the rare culture and kind and useful life of Miss Vail in every department of religious, charitable and social work.

VAN HORN AGAIN CAUGHT.

This Time the Snare Comes by Way of Wilkes-Barre. Early last night a despatch dated Wilkes-Barre was received over the United Press wires announcing that Van Horn had been captured there on Saturday night. The story, it was later learned, started from a rumor that he was located in Miner's Mills by Detective Mulvey, which rumor was proved to be without foundation. Scarcely a day has passed since the murder but what Van Horn has been cornered or at least seen, according to the whole of James Rumor, but up to 12 o'clock last night he was still a free man as far as the police here knew.
